In January, we were taken on a journey to Burma, India, and Japan. Our guide was fellow guild member Sheila Metcalf who, through the power of Zoom (as we are still in a pandemic lockdown) led us through her quest for beauty and the inspiration for her work.

Woven Together in Pandemania Continues into 2021

A series of virtual meetings every two weeks for going on two years, Woven Together lets our members share their projects in great detail. It keeps us connected when our other meetings are impossible. Here on these four pages are a small sample.

July Picnic on San Juan Island

During a brief "safe" period guild members met outside on SJ Historical Park grounds. We were treated to a talk from Historical Museum Volunteer Diana Mancel on some of the more interesting textile finds in their collection.

Zentangle

In 2021, The Guild sponsored two Zentangle workshops, both on Zoom. The first was taught in two parts by Deb Prewitt: basics and "forgotten places" combining Zentangle with watercolor painting. Subsequently, a Zentangle Study Group was formed and meets every Thursday. A second workshop in August was taught by Lynn Shelton Mead focusing on shading and combining patterns.
